Giving soils a voice!

European Network on Soil Awareness
2017 Meeting

The fifth ENSA-JRC meeting aims to bring together people who have a common aim of raising awareness of the importance of soil. The meeting is a forum to exchange best practices and learn about what is happening across Europe. A key aspect will be the implementation of the European Soil Partnership Plan of Action on education and soil awareness.

Proposals for short interventions are welcome.

The evening of September 29th is the European Researchers Night. The JRC is planning to contribute to the event in Bratislava and invites workshop participants to join them to highlight soil issues.

For further details about any aspect of the meeting and for contributions, please contact any of the following people:

Arwyn Jones: arwyn.jones@ec.europa.eu
Gabriele Broll: gabriele.broll@uni-osnabrueck.de
Beata Houskova: b.houskova@vupop.sk

Giving soils a voice!

European Network on Soil Awareness
2017 Meeting

The European Soil Partnership (ESP) reflects the regional implementation of the Global Soil Partnership (GSP), an initiative of FAO supported by the EU, for increased governance of soil. Specifically, the ESP facilitates cooperation and knowledge sharing within the broader European region.

Pillar 2 of the ESP addresses policy, awareness, education, extension and investment. Pillar 2 is wide ranging in scope and that its core issues underpin many of the actions of the other pillars. In particular, the need to address the lack of societal awareness of the importance of soil, combined with a lack of education, is partly responsible for unsustainable land management, an overall lack of investment in soil and a political reluctance to meaningfully adopt and ensure soil protection and enhancement measures.

At a recent meeting in FAO, the ESP Implementation Plan 2017-2020 was approved.

The ENSA-JRC meeting in Bratislava will address key actions, physical outcomes, possible contributors, timeline and budgetary requirements for the ESP Pillar 2 Action Plan as well as topics such as communication channels, World Soil Day, support to EU and national soil policy development, engagement with extension services, scientific and technical cooperation and the need to demonstrate a positive return on soil investment.

European Researchers' Nights are dedicated to popular science and fun learning. They are a unique opportunity to meet researchers, talk to them, and find out what they really do for society, in interactive and engaging ways. This can be through hands-on experiments, science shows, learning activities for children, guided visits of research labs, science quizzes, games, competitions with researchers and more.

The European Researchers' Night takes place every year all over Europe and in neighbouring countries the last Friday of September.

This year's event will take place on Friday 29 September in over 300 cities.

The JRC is organising a space in for the event in Bratislava. Participants to the workshop who are interested in using the opportunity to engage with the people of Bratislava on the subject of soil are invited to contact arwyn.jones@ece.europa.eu
